Upcoming FBC Events 2020

LAKE JUNALUSKA WITH THE SILLS - 2/6
Our first walk of the years will be our annual trip to Lake Junaluska with John and Cathy Sill. Here are the details:

February 6
John and Cathy Sill will lead a trip to Lake Junaluska to look for wintering water birds and other species. We will circle the lake by car with stops to get better views of this magnet for wintering birds. Meet at Bi-Lo parking at 8:00 to carpool.
Please sign up by replying to this email or calling 828-524-5234.

MEETING 2/10
The speaker for our first meeting of the year will be Curtis Smalling, Director of Conservation at NC Audubon. It’s been several years since he’s visited us and you don’t want to miss this one. His topic will be “NC Important Bird Areas.”
7:00 pm at the Macon County Public Library.

WEBSITE
Thanks to Suzanne Fosselman for our beautiful and very informative website. Of particular interest now are George Kaye’s “Nest Box News” and photos and details about installation of gourds for Purple Martins on the Greenway - by Jim Shelton and his team.
Check them out at: https://franklinbirdclub.com
Of course you can find lots of other info about birds and birding as well as activities and events of FBC.
